

Vino Mex

Tasting of Mexican wines Casa de Piedra Reds

Casa de Piedra, 1998 Vino de Piedra Tinto

Wine from Mexico? Don't laugh. This is an absolutely stunning exercise in winemaking on the part of Baja California's best winery and its soft-spoken enologist, Hugo d'Acosta. Gripping, earthy and absolutely convincing.

Sexy tones of black fruit and terroir play throughout this blend of tempranillo and cabernet sauvignon. A stunner of a wine, all the more so for being from an unsuspecting appellation.

Unfortunately not (yet) available in the United States. Importers, this is your wake-up call.

More on:

- <http://mexicanwines.homestead.com>
- <http://mexicanwineries.blogspot.com>